Secondary school in Havířov - Prostřední Suchá celebrates its 10th ,adoptive' anniversary! February 2019 Townhall newspaper

It just has been 10 years since our students of the Social activities program came with the idea to join the ,long distance adoption' of the black girl Clementine from Africa. They were touched by her fate and it was an impulse to start the cooperation. All students as well as school employees join this support every year mostly by regular money gathering. In order to better understand the whole topic, we organized debates with Narovinu Center volunteers. Representatives of school classes make small presents, write letters and send photos from the life at our school. We send regularly financial support to Clementine's studies including basic healthcare. Just recently, she got sick and had typhoid fever. As she had health insurance, she could be treated at the clinic.

This project organized by Narovinu Center helps not just to educate the graduates of Social activities program, but also prepares students from other programs for life in which it is possible to help those in need.

Last month, the pupils at Lions Primary School held the second edition of their annual Talent Show. The theme for this year's edition was Fashion and Modelling. There was a flurry of activities and heightened excitement as pupils prepared to showcase their modelling skills as well as their fashion creativity.

The participants included pupils from Standard One to Standard Eight. Each of the contestants took to the stage confidently and strutted across the podium with great elegance. The audience, which included fellow pupils, teachers, parents and invited guests clapped and cheered as the models twirled and spun to display their modelling skills. Their talent was clear for all to see and they each put their best foot forward in the pageant.

However, in every competition, we must have a winner and this pageant was no different.

Lower primary contestants were well represented by talented models such as Mercy Nekesa who clinched the title for Miss Grade Two and Darlene Ndori who was crowned Miss Grade Three.

In upper primary, Effie Gogo was declared

Students supported girl in Africa with their products 25.4.2019 Tachovský deník Page 3 Region/ news

Kladruby – Just like in the previous years, the students from Kladruby were selling their hand made Easter decoration to support a 'long distance adopted' girl named Muthinu from Kenya. They have been supporting her education already for 12 years. After the Easter holidays, the school moved the stand in the cloister innyard so the kids can sell the rest of their hand made decorations there.

Decorations will help in Africa 30.4.2019 Tachovská Jiskra Weekly, p. 8 U nás doma na Tachovsku Just like every other year, we have also been selling this year the Easter decorations on the main square in Kladruby. This way, we earn money to support the long distance adoption project. Already for 12 years, we have been supporting this way a girl names Muthinu from Kenya. We also had our stand inside the cloister yard during Easter Monday before the Easter concert.

Run for educated Africa

Friday 27. 9. 2019

Secondary Grammar School Holice

Class 3.C would like to invite all teachers, current as well as past students, their parents, family and general public to join "Run for educated Africa" that will take place as part of the 20th anniversary celebrations of school opening on Friday 27. 9. from 15:00 to 17:00.

It is a charity relay and the money collected will be used to support schooling of Cleveland Ochiengo Ogweni from Kenya who has been adopted (long distance) by our school. The donation (registration fee) is voluntary and each runner can contribute any amount he or she wants. We want to thank all participants for their contributions! Each runner will also get a ticket to tombola for each completed run on the newly reconstructed running track. They can win interesting prizes from our sponsors (Mimosa flower shop, Sauna paradise, Lesy ČR, Glass studio Müller, Holice city etc.). Hence you can contribute to good cause also get a nice present!

All students and classes of the Secondary Grammar School will support this event in the morning as well as in the afternoon.

Also this year there has been a lot of interest in handmade products of children, their parents, friends as well as teachers from the Volary school. The offer was very colourful and the editors of the school magazine Volaracek even offered their printed magazine – one of the best school magazines in Bohemia. The Christmas carols and songs were also part of the program as they have been beautifully performed by trio of students of art school in Volary (ZUŠ Volary). The collected money will be split to support Grus grus bird in Zoo Ohrada by Hluboka nad Vltavou and to pay for schooling of Peter Odhiambo Kisumu – Mbita from Kenay supported by students of the school via long distance adoption program.

Linhartovy castle already has been closed after its main season but none wanted to miss the popular Christmas market. / Photo: Deník / František Kuba „I probably walked almost 100 km all over Krnov to personally deliver the invitation to every single mail box. Just during the first hour, we had 600 visitors,” castellan Jaroslav Hrubý evaluates the attendance. The market is focusing on real handmade products and beauty of Christmas decoration, but the visitors could also taste Polish products, products of local butchers or giant bread. The initiative of the pupils from primary school Dvořákův okruh was very touching as they made different Christmas decorations to sell and earn money to support schooling of kid on Kenya. His name is Bercason Argwengs Ouma and the long distance adoption program can help him to have better future.
